The U.S. Court for the District of Puerto Rico needs to provide uninterruptable power supply (UPS) to sensitive audio/visual equipment. This project aims to protect all electrical outlets serving Audio/Visual (A/V) equipment inside the Courthouse. These systems are highly sensitive to voltage changes but are currently not fully protected from these fluctuations.

Equipment served by this project include all A/V racks in Courtrooms 1 through 7 located at the Clemente Ruiz Nazario US Courthouse in San Juan, PR. The District Court wants to “tap into” existing circuits panels serving A/V equipment and protect the full load with the UPS System.
